Dead Famous (2001) is a comedy / whodunit novel by Ben Elton in which ratings for a reality TV show, very similar to Big Brother, rocket when a housemate is murdered. Unlike a typical whodunnit, Elton does not reveal the identity of the victim until around halfway into the book.

Dead Famous (novel) – Wikipedia

Elton uses the same format as in his later novel 'Identity Crisis', with an old-school policeman baffled and unimpressed by the modern world he is forced to confront in order to solve the mystery. He relentlessly satirises reality television and its exploitative nature. And it is genuinely, even laugh-out-loud funny at times.

Ben Elton turns his dark wit to Big Brother and its spawn with his dramedy Dead Famous. The premise is as you would expect – a handful of strangers being filmed in a house 24/7 with evictions occurring on a weekly basis. The twist: somebody inside this CCTV-rigged house manages to get themselves murdered.
