The Herbal Encyclopedia - Index Page

An herbal is a book containing the names and descriptions of plants, usually with information on their medicinal, tonic, culinary, toxic, hallucinatory, aromatic, or magical powers, and the legends associated with them. A herbal may also classify the plants it describes, may give recipes for herbal extracts, tinctures, or potions, and sometimes include mineral and animal medicaments in addition to those obtained from plants. Herbals were often illustrated to assist plant identification. Herbals

Overview Herbal or botanical medicine employs roots, leaves, and barks as drugs for the treatment of disease. The medicinal use of herbs and other botanical products is probably as old as medical treatment itself. A common belief throughout history is that nature provides plants in each region that are appropriate for the cure of local diseases.
